Stellar Child Care Organization

Pulkit Singh ’20
International Internship Program
Phnom Penh, Cambodia
Education Intern

- Taught English to two groups of 8 – 12 year olds with fellow Princeton intern
- Conducted introductory Computer Classes for small group of students from each English class
- Taught introductory English Language skills to women that worked in the Sewing Center associated with the organization
- Worked to set up a sustainable long term plan, and came up with syllabus and teaching material for the same.
Pictures with our Students and the Staff
Meeting Incredible People!

- The women at the sewing center being incredibly determined and intelligent
- Our students connecting with us despite our differences
- The wonderful and helpful staff at our Volunteer House and at the school
Around the Classroom
Sustainable documentation

- When we arrived, we were thrown into the classroom with no concrete information about the class level.

- Realized that the kids needed consistency in teaching methods and continuity in material despite changing teachers.

Reflection on Creating Impact

- Princeton is so intellectual – working with kids gave me the opportunity to connect from the heart instead of the head.
- Made me realize that making sustainable impact is really important to me.
- Made me think about my academic plans – and fed my interest in developing technology for teaching.
Time to grow and travel

I had the opportunity to engage with the culture, travel to some absolutely incredible places and eat some of the best food of my life!
